02 Use it for your own writing.

The same environment that helps your students finish their manuscripts helps you finish yours.

03 Time saved in critique.

Students arrive at class with structured analysis already done. You spend your time on craft, not on flagging mechanical problems.

04 Help your students finish.

That is the reason you teach. Slima is the tool built around that outcome.

Features that help you teach.

The tools you get, framed for the classroom.

01 Beta Reader.

Attention curve, DNF risk, dimension scores, and a structured editor letter on every chapter. Students bring the mechanical critique to class. You teach craft.

02 Full-book memory.

Review any student's chapter without rereading the whole manuscript. The environment already knows the book.

03 Version branching.

Have students try alternate endings or structural rewrites without losing the original draft. The comparison itself becomes a class exercise.

04 Character graph and timeline.

Catch consistency and chronology problems across long drafts in seconds, not hours.

05 Writing Studio + Script Studio.

Novel and screenplay environments in one project graph. Teach across formats without switching tools.

06 Export to .docx, .md, .epub.

Students submit finished work in standard formats. No conversion friction.

You teach craft. Slima removes the mechanical friction that was eating your students' completion rate.

What your students get, in numbers.

Real pricing, real benefit, no hidden mechanics.

PLAN	STANDARD	WITH YOUR EDUCATOR DECLARATION
Free	$0	$0
Starter	$9/mo	$5.40/mo (40% off)
Pro	$19/mo	$11.40/mo (40% off)

Discount applies for as long as you remain an active Slima Educator.

Their work stays theirs.

Slima does not train on student manuscripts. Export to .docx, .md, or .epub at any time.

Private by default.

Each student account is encrypted and scoped to them. You do not see their drafts unless they share them with you directly.

Free tier forever if they don't upgrade.

The discount makes the upgrade easier, not mandatory.

What is coming next, and your role in it.

The classroom we are building.

⁰¹ Shared project space.

Teacher and students in the same writing environment, with synchronous inline correction and feedback.

⁰³ Research and validation tools.

Sources, citations, and reference notes connected to the manuscript and visible to the teacher when the student asks for review.

⁰² Class management.

Organize your students by class, track progress, see who is finishing and who is stuck.

⁰⁴ Beta Reader for educators.

Aggregate critique data across your class so you can see structural patterns before peer review.

Educators in the program get these features first.

Available to you before public release. Use Slima with your students today, exactly as it works now, and grow into the shared classroom when it arrives.
